

MEAL PLANN'NG WELNESS GUIDE

	Heallt	Ceranuls	Plamne	Mamin	Reilrt	Neenles

GREENS		1
		3
	2n1j	5
	2brt	7	8	Reeet	Kitche dnoora itals
	2thj	11	3	Reeet	Fultife poopartios
					Neelthy Nizimized Fearitort

HUITIBNUAS CAOKTRARL
Nutritious :pheakols n orgaizehtion

19 Meal Planning Workbook

A flexible food-planning workbook for fewer last-minute decisions and less waste.

Build meals around schedule, preferences, pantry use, leftovers, and realistic preparation energy.

Week at a Glance

Plan around real time, energy, and commitments.

Days I can cook: ...

Days I need leftovers or a fast option: ...

People and portions to serve: ...

Food preferences or allergies to honor: ...

The hardest meal window is...

Choose the Anchors

Select a few dependable meals before filling every slot.

One breakfast anchor: ...

One lunch anchor: ...

Two dinner anchors: ...

One no-cook or emergency option: ...

One meal everyone can customize: ...

Use What You Have

Inventory perishables and pantry items to guide choices.

Produce to use first: ...

Protein or main ingredient available: ...

Grains, beans, or staples available: ...

Frozen items to rotate: ...

A leftover that can become...

Shop Smart

Create a grouped list with quantities and substitutions.

Produce and herbs: ...

Proteins and alternatives: ...

Dairy or non-dairy items: ...

Pantry and freezer items: ...

A lower-cost substitute for... is...

Prep and Store

Make the week easier without committing to a marathon session.

Wash or portion this ingredient: ...

Cook one versatile base: ...

Label leftovers with date and contents

Keep a ready snack or breakfast option

Freeze or use first: ...

Review the Week

Learn from what was eaten, skipped, and enjoyed.

The meal that was easiest was...

The food we wasted and why was...

A favorite flavor or texture was...

Next week needs more or less...

One planning shortcut I will keep is...

Use and safety note

Follow personal medical and allergy guidance, prevent cross-contamination, refrigerate foods promptly, and adapt recipes to your needs.

This printable tool is for general education and organization. Adapt it to your household, abilities, schedule, and circumstances.